NOTE FOR: DDS&T

Ev,

Will do what we can; your points are well taken. Realistically, though, our opportunities to provide personnel growth for CIA are growing smaller all the time...and I am having similar semi-tragic tales from the other Directorates. Someday soon we are simply going to have to accommodate any desired growth internally. I suggest:

continued attention to

- honing your arguments for growth
- a hard look at internal priorities, Directorate-wide
- vigorous efforts to move anyone who isn't doing his full share elsewhere.

Also, how about a DO stocktaking of what it asks of OTS?

Deputy Director for Science and Technology

SUBJECT: Implications of the FY 1985 Position Reductions

Jim
1. I have just completed our FY 1985 Annual Reviews and want to pass on to you the unmistakable message that came through from all the DS&T offices. That is, we are getting into serious trouble due to the shortfall in new positions.
